An Extraordinary Will Case.

(From the New York "Tr One of the most remarkable cases on record, lestined to rank high among the Causes Celebres, is now the talk of Boston. The evidence, taken before examiners some months since, but only just published, fills a large volume of 1,000 pages. The amount involved exceeds $1,000,000. The arguments in the case—before the United States Circuit Court, Justice Clifford presiding-cournemoed last Friday. It is a suit of equity, brought by Hetty H. Robinson against Thomas Maudell and others. Miss Robinson (now Mrs. Green) was, previous to her marriage, one of the richest, if not the richest, spinster in the United States; her property, which she inherited from her father. commonly reputed to be worth $5,000,000. It appears that her aunt, Miss Sylvia Ann Howland, who died 1865, left a will bearing date Sept. 1863, and a codicil executed in 1864. By this will and codicil Miss Howland disposed of about $700,000 in private legacies, the largest, of $200,000, to Thomas Mandell, her lawyer, we believe; $115,000 to her physician, Dr. Gordon, and from $4,000 to $15,000 to each person in her employment. She left, also, $240,000 for public said, to about a million, was to be placed in trust, the income to be paid to Miss Robinson during her life; the principal, on her decease, to go to contests her nunt's will. This is, in itself, at 11 a. any contagion. The ground upon which she contests the will and codicil is noteworthy. It seems that Miss Howland had quarreled with her brother-in-law, the father of Miss Robinson, and being resolved, was to leave again for this port on the 2d of the purpose of bringing out the end of the chain. if possible, to exclude him from all share, not only November. of her own property but of his daughter's also, she proposed, about Sept. 1860, to her niece, then 23 years old, that if she (Miss Robinson) would make a will so that her father should inherit no be looked for early in November. part of her property, she (Miss Howland) would, - The Idaho will be seen by advertisement, leaves in return, make a will leaving everything to her at o'clock 4 P. M., to-day, November 2d, instead niece; the will of each to be deposited with the other, and neither to make any other will without notice to the other, and returning that other her feld & Co. have been appointed agents. will. Miss Robinson agreed to this, and the wills were executed accordingly. But the subsequent will and codicil made by the aunt in 1863 and '64 were executed without notice to the niece. Thus arose a question of law, a novel question in the courts of this country, namely, whether a contract for mutual wills, if proved, can be enforced, as being without consideration, and against public policy and good morals.

But the most singular feature in this case still remains to be stated. To the will originally made ity of the Senators and Representatives, thus would not leave the room until the manager by Miss Howland in favor of her niece there is an securing the choice of a Democratic U. S. Senator ordered them to be put out by force. A large addition, sewed on with fine thread to the first for six years. Vallandigham is talked of as a barricade was erected and the doorway blocked page, not changing any provision of the will, but a sort of protest by the testator against the validity of any subsequent will which she under undue influence from those around her, might be induced has been rejected by over 50,000 majority. to make. Part of the text is: "I implore the judge to decide in favor of this will, as nothing could induce me to make a will unfavorable to my niece; but being ill, and afraid if any of my caretakers insisted on my making a will to refuse, as | 000 majority. they might leave me or be angry. * I give this will to my niece to show, if absolutely necessary to have it appear against another will found after my death." Miss Robinson testifies under oath that she wrote this appendage to the will at the suggestion of her aunt, and that her aunt signed it in duplicate in her presence. The defense to this is nothing less than a charge of forgery. It is denied that the signature to this additional page is genuine, and alleged that it was copied by tracing from a signature (admitted to be genuine) of the testator to the original will to which this appending is found stitched. From our Extra of Monday, Oct. 28. Arrival of a live Gorilla from Africa. Arrival of the Idaho!

(From the New York Evening Post, Sept. 25.) For the first time there is a live gorilla in New York-a gorilla like those of which Du Chailla Important Foreign News! has told so many wonderful stories in "Equatorial Africa " and " Ashango Land."

At a late hour, yesterday afternoon, there was an extraordinary excitement in the neighborhood of Barnum's Museum. The gorilla had arrived, and his roars attracted a crowd of spectators. The animal was caught in the interior of Africa, and was put safely on board the sailing slai Harding, and conveyed to this port. The box in which it was eaged during the voyage was made of teak wood plank-the toughest material that could be found in Africa. A huge cart-chain, fastened to the neek of the gorilla, passed through

Mr. Brothwell and Professor Davison each took a scraper, and from opposite ends of the cage endeavored to foil the gorilla, and grasped the end of the chain. Finally the gorilla seized the bar which Mr. Brothwell held. Another man, who is noted for his musclar strength, came to the rescue, but the animal proved their superior, and bent the heavy piece of iron double, so that the ends touched. During this effort, however, the chain was secured and the box put to the cage, the animal entrapped, and his chain secured to the beams underneath During all this excitement the gorilla growled Оню.-Gen.
